

2022-2023 INFLUENZA VACCINATION PROGRAM

Vaccine residues are updated every year according to the prevailing strains to strengthen protection. Therefore, it is necessary to get vaccinated against seasonal influenza every year. Immunity to influenza begins approximately 2 weeks after having the shot. In order to protect yourself and those around you, please make sure to carry out annual influenza virus vaccination to minimize the possibility of spreading between companies and homes

The World Health Organisation (WHO) recommends that quadrivalent vaccines to be used in the 2022-2023 influenza season (northern hemisphere winter virus) contain the following:

- A/Victoria/2570/2019 (H1N1)pdm09-like virus
- A/Darwin/9/2021 (H3N2)-like virus
- B/Austria/1359417/2021 (B/Victoria lineage)-like virus
- B/Phuket/3073/2013 (B/Yamagata lineage)-like virus

Guidelines for Children Having Influenza Vaccine

- Under 13 years old – Doctor’s assessment is compulsory before influenza vaccination.
- 13 to 17 years old – Doctor’s assessment can be omitted if the child is between 13 – 17 years old and being accompanied by his/her parent or legal guardian, in which case his/her parent or legal guardian will sign the Health Declaration Form on the child’s behalf at the time of vaccination.
- An International Guideline has been given that children under 9 years old and who have NOT received any influenza vaccination previously, are recommended to have 2 vaccines at least 1 month apart. Children who reach 9 years old require 1 shot of flu vaccine only.
- Should a doctor assessment be required or requested (including adult or child of any age), an additional fee of HK$100 will be charged.
